

INTRAMURAL TILT AMONG DEBATERS STARTS TUESDAY

Seven Entries Debate Tolerance Of Greek Societies On Campus

FACULTY TO JUDGE

The first debate of the intramural debate tournament will begin Tuesday, March 17, with Alpha Gamma Chi versus Kappa Psi Delta, on the subject: "Resolved, That Sororities and Fraternities Should Not Be Permitted on the Campus Unless They Have Permanent Quarters."

The eight entries will debate six days, starting March 17 and continuing through March 27, when the finals will be held.

"We are 100 per cent behind this debate tournament," stated Kenneth Hargrove, president of the Pan-Hellenic Council. "We believe that intra-mural activities should be stressed more than they have been in the past."

The judges for the first debate between Kappa Psi Delta and Alpha Gamma Chi, are Mr. A. M. Johnson, English professor, and Miss Ethel Jane Scanlon. Different judges will officiate at each debate in the single-elimination contest.

Following is the list of Greeks and the organizations debating:

Alpha Sigma Lambda, Robert Hadfield and Keith Maxwell; Theta Phi Delta, Wade Knapp, Irvin Vaughn, John Moucka and Lewis Leigh; Kappa Psi Delta, Theda Anthes, Marjorie Williams, Mary Jane Cooper and Mable Knipprath; Phi Delta Psi, Ruth

Dr. Adson Tells How Animals Are Used By Science

The importance of animals in scientific medicine was emphasized by Dr. Alfred W. Adson, head neural surgeon of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, before assembled students of the University at 10 a. m. Wednesday in Jacobs' Hall.

President Rowland Haynes introduced Dr. Adson, whose subject was "The Development of Scientific Medicine."

"The animal plays an important part in medicine," said Dr. Adson, "not only as a subject for experimentation but in the development of medicine for humans."

The injection of the typhoid germ into the horse to produce anti-bodies which may, by injection into the human system, prevent the appearance of that disease, Dr. Adson stated, and diabetes which is now cured by substances produced by extracts from the pancreas gland of animals, are two examples of contribution to the field of medicine.

Dr. Adson was in Omaha for the American College of Surgery convention held last Thursday.

WILL DISCUSS BIOGRAPHY

"Biography" will be discussed by members of the Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, at their regular meeting at the Paxton Hotel, Tuesday evening.

The fraternity's group picture for the annual will be taken at the meeting, and all members are urged to attend.

Business Boners

The following information was gleaned from the Business Administration test papers, and we present it for the edification of all who are interested:

"Watermarks is from the fishing industry and they are markers which are put on the shore to be able to locate schools of fish afterwards."

"Complexity of energy utilization—sounds worse than it really is. It refers to the sometimes involved way of getting one's work done."

"Veneer is used to float the wood to the mill."

"Veneer is a type of wood that is grown in the southern states of the United States."

"Watermarking is selling of fake stock."

"Watermarks is defective glass."

Repertoire Class Presents Recital

The Repertoire class of the Municipal University held a recital Tuesday, March 10, in the Joslyn Hall auditorium under the supervision of Mrs. Jean Jarmin, head of the Dramatics department.

Those taking part on the program were Ruth Ward, pianist; Arthur Allard, reader; Robert Hadfield, speaker; Amy Rohacek, reader; Beth Campbell, violinist, accompanied by Lillian Anderson; Sylvan Frankel, speaker; Esther Silverman, reader; Minnette Myers, reader; Florence Steinberg, pianist; Donald Reisser, reader; Louise Riggs, reader; Lowell Fouts, speaker; Esther Steinberg, violinist; Bess Greer, reader, and Kathryn Phillips.

University Coeds Will Hear Lectures On Cosmetology, Hairdressing at Four-Day Charm School Next Week

Girls of the University will have the opportunity of hearing Miss Belle Ryan, Dean Rene Stevens, Mrs. Rudolph Rix and Miss Agnes Schmitt of Lincoln at a four-day Charm School beginning Tuesday of next week, sponsored by the W. A. A.

Lectures will be given on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons for women of the University only, from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the auditorium. On Friday morning during the assembly period, a style show, which men of the University may also attend, will be held. Ten cents will be the price of admission.

Preceding the lecture on cosmetology Tuesday, which will be given by Miss Agnes Schmitt, Lincoln Cosmetologist and President of the Nebraska State Board of Examiners, Dean Rene H. Stevens will present a social questionnaire to each girl. The following day Mrs. Stevens will answer the questions the girls ask.

Miss Schmitt's topic will be "Individual Coiffures and Makeup of the Moment." She will dress the hair of Bess Greer, '38. One of these hair dresses, which she will create, will be named "Miss Municipal."

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Rudolph Rix will lecture and demonstrate "Etiquette at Dinners, Banquets and Teas."

Miss Belle Ryan, assistant superintendent of Omaha public schools, will lecture on "Assets for a Business Woman" Thursday afternoon. Miss Ruth Diamond, athletic director, will speak on the "Place of Posture in Person-

RHODES SCHOLARS APPLICATIONS DUE EARLY THIS YEAR

Ex-Oxford Students, Lasch and Peters, Relate Experiences

TRAVEL IN EUROPE

Candidates for the Rhodes Scholars will be selected from the University this spring, instead of in the fall, said Dr. Holt, chairman of the committee this week. This change from the fall season has been made to give the nominees an opportunity to study in the subjects in which they are deficient, he added.

Robert Lasch and Russell Peters, downtown newspapermen and co-instructors of the News Editing course offered this semester at the University, were both Rhodes scholars and both voiced admiration for Oxford vacations.

"The finest thing about the Rhodes scholarship," said Lasch, "is the opportunity it gives one to travel. The vacations are so arranged that I was able to spend a good deal of time in Italy, France, and Germany."

"For persons fond of vacation, Oxford is a paradise. But there is a snake in this paradise. An Oxford undergraduate goes on his vacation with sufficient books to stock a small library," stated Peters.

To be eligible a candidate must be: 1. A male citizen of the United States and unmarried. 2. Be between the ages of 19 and 25 on Sigma Chi Omicron and Theta Phi Delta, sorority and fraternity, will hold their spring formal dinner-dance tonight and tomorrow night in the Fontenelle hotel.

Fifty couples will attend the Sigma Chi dinner-dance tonight. Two hundred bids have been issued to the dance, which will be held in the main ballroom, with Bobby Bowman playing.

Committee members in charge are Dorothy Anderson, chairman, Faye Lane and Betty Lou Stringer.

Theta Phi Delta fraternity has made arrangements for forty couples at the dinner to be held tomorrow night at the Fontenelle hotel.

Two hundred invitations have been given out for the dancing, which starts at 9:00 p. m. Art Maro will furnish music for the dinner and dance.

Don Ryan, chairman; Carson Rogers and John Moucka, committee members, are in charge of all arrangements for the Theta dance.

Exotic Foods Comprise Unusual Tea Menu; Faculty Hostesses

STUDENTS INVITED

A Studio open-house and novelty tea on Sunday, March 15, will be presented by the department of painting, sculpturing and architecture of the University from 2 until 6 p. m.

A group of lithographs, etchings, drawings and paintings, in original and reproduction, of some of the outstanding illustrators of human relationships throughout the ages will be exhibited on the third floor of the University.

In addition to the paintings shown, a very unusual kind of tea will be served, with food from the Syrian section of New York. The menu follows:

Lakoumia—(A glorified Turkish paste).
Halwa—Sesame candy.
Roselip—Pistachio nuts.
Apricot paste with almonds.
Various fresh fruits.

Mate—A South American drink.
The foreign idea will be carried still further by the tea being served from a Russian Samovar.

This exhibit is presented in the hope that all students and their friends will attend, stated Dr. Berthe Koch, department head, and there will be manuscripts in each room telling about the painters represented, for the benefit of the guests.

Mrs. W. Dale Clark and Mrs. Howard Rushton will pour from 3 to 4 p. m.; Mrs. Paul Grunmann (Continued on Page 4)

University Debate Teams At Hastings' Forensic Tourney

Two University debate teams left Wednesday afternoon for Hastings, where they are competing in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association tournament, March 12 to 14.

The teams are to debate both sides of the question: "Resolved: Congress Should Be Given the Power to Override the Supreme Court's Decisions."

The debaters representing Omaha University are: Lucille Hulbert, '38, and Fannie Witkin, '38, women's team; Macy Baum, '38, and Hyman Finklestein, '38, men's team.

Bernice Perlman, '36, will represent the school in the women's extemporaneous division. She will speak on some topic pertaining to the American stage.

There are twelve schools in this contest, including Omaha University.

The teams plan to return Saturday night.

NORTH HEARS PRESIDENT

President Rowland Haynes will speak this morning to the North High seniors on the advantages of attending college. The remainder of the program consists of a talk by Loren Gammon, scholarship student from North High, readings by Amy Rohacek, dramatics student, and piano numbers by Evelyn Smith, music student.

INTRAMURAL DEBATING

With the announcement of the Intramural debate tournament last week by Professor Dayton Heckman, varsity debate coach, another commendable activity became a reality on the campus.

This interest in debating is a certain sign that the intellectual powers of speech are not dead at this institution of higher learning.

The Pan-Hellenic council is to be congratulated for sponsoring this contest, and Professor Heckman for coaching the teams. It is to be hoped that the interest does not wane, and with the Pan-Hel behind it, it should be as successful as the recent intramural basketball tournament.

The annual developing of such programs will do much to weld a united student body from the members of the University of Omaha.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM

That financial and legal aid to educators who have been dismissed because of their political, economic or social beliefs will be given by a newly formed Commission on Educational Freedom is an interesting announcement made by Frederick L. Redefter, who is connected with Columbia University.

In the wave of red-baiting, which has swept the country, our University has fortunately avoided the accusation of harboring a group of government-overthrowing, radical professors.

Anyone still having such fears, has only to ask any student, to discover that such fears have no foundation on our campus.

Certainly a professor has a perfect right to his own beliefs. The communist-hunters can not complain about that. The greatest fear they, these super-patriots, have is that freedom of speech should be granted to educators, other than in the Constitution of the United States.

FOOTBALL VS HEALTH

Knoxville, Tenn.—(ACP)—Almost completely incapacitated as a result of severe brain injuries suffered in the Thanksgiving Day game with the University of Kentucky team, Herbie Tade, star University of Tennessee center, is in the care of a famous New York brain specialist today, while students and football fans of both states push a drive to establish a fund for his care.

Tade was hurt in the closing minutes of the Kentucky-Tennessee game last fall. He had been the main pillar of defense and one of the explanations of his almost fatal injury is believed to lie in the fact that he had so completely played himself out.

He was carried from the field and his hurt was immediately recognized as serious. He never regained complete possession of his faculties, however, and successive operations did not improve his condition. Suffering from amnesia and lack of muscular and nervous co-ordination, he is today nearly helpless.

He Doesn't Like Contests

By FRAN NELSON

First, I must make it clear that I have no powers of divination, and only the smallest amount of common sense. You have no idea how this sort of thing can help one.

I pondered long and deeply when a prize for the best name was announced and the essence of my thoughts resulted in something of the following:

First: Should there be 200 applicants there will probably be something like 75 "Omahans" submitted. Seventy-five of the more original people will submit "Ahamo." That last fifty was quite a problem—since there are no buildings with tall and beautiful towers, no chapel with chiming bells, no fountain or old oaken buckets, there will probably be a confusion of names submitted by the more literary students, such as The Tower, Chimes, The Lamp, The Flame, and lots of other noble and high-sounding names alluding to the non-dying spirit of wisdom, the flame of knowledge, and other dedications to the temple of learning. (I wouldn't make fun of this sort of thing for the world, because I realize, if no one else does, the noble pricking which drives these alliterative people on.)

Next, there will be a small group of people who are well steeped in Indian lore and the ancient Indian tradition of the University, which will submit Uhglaph and Slipchawakikisigh and similar names which, when translated, mean the same sort of thing that I described above.

Then, of course, there will be a goodly number of "Cardinals" and their various horrible contractions and garbled letters, such as Nalsidarc, Radicnals and other terrible conglomerations of syllables.

Last: There will undoubtedly be a group of students of the more cultured type who will hand in all sorts of foreign names, ranging in complexity relative to the cultural accomplishments of the individual.

With the above in mind, I remembered that the contest was announced unknown to the Annual editor, who had and probably has very definite ideas on a name for the Annual, which will probably be no worse and surely no better than anything else handed in.

Being a very ethical person, I decided that no annual name could possibly be worth five dollars; so I for one refuse to touch the filthy lucre.

Editor's Note—Above we have a very good example of the defense mechanism set up by a person who found that he was too late to make the contest dead line.

Thru The Keyhole

Hello Squids: The Kappa dance was a success as far as dancing was concerned....there was plenty of floor room....more alumni were present than ever seen before....Davis is back at the Uni. Cafe, thereby bringing it to its former level....An easy way to distinguish morons is to note the absence of lines on their face....Lines indicate that thought has corrugated their brow....A little soft music, please—

The lowest worm upon the sands,
The one who cries, "Hello my frands."
The sourest blooms upon the stalk,

WHO'S DATING WHO—AND WHO CARES?

Rogers-Myers, Thompson-Keaton, Davis-Ryan, Lehmer-Johnson, Clark-Schliffke? Maloney? Pearson-Scott, Hesler-Taylor, Knipprath-Mashek, Nelson-DeVane, Gross-Ossoff, Steincamp-Johnson will attend the Theta Phi Delta Spring Formal. At the Sig Chi we will probably see these combinations: Phillips and his date, Stringer-Bolte, Clough-Rachman, Hughes-Arnold.

What did Cooper think when Ione hung her sorority pin on his mighty chest (size 26)?....Vogel-Bess took the prettiest spill of the year at the Kappa....Stracka showed with Lehr about 10:30....didja know he was connected with the pessimist club?....Clark is taking a trip to Ames this week....To the nickname-scrappers in the UNI-CAFE, how about laying off?

At the Kappa....Seen at the door....the pledges who had had the active duties as door-keepers pushed off on them.

The Candid Cameraman attended the Alpha Gamma Chi Saturday night. Rumors have it that Fannie Witkin likes the birds. (She brought her date in "Tails.")

Pi O pledges are to bring paddles of their own making to the next meeting and present them to their (respective) sorority mothers.

Members of the Alpha Sig look a little depressed this week since one of their fraternity brothers, Frank Glasberger, is in bed with scarlet fever.

What was the object of Marge Corrington wearing large safety pins for two weeks? Did she forget her pledge pin one day?

John Kozak, that master of the "long stories," reminds one of that expert journalist from the Morningside sheet, Wayne Huff; they both are suffering from "delusions of grandeur."

It surely is funny what a change can come over some guys just because they are taking practice teaching. Now take Loren Gammon for instance—those kids up at North High are forced to call him "Mr." and now he believes that us common folks should refrain from saying, "hey Bosco!"

Henry Medlock pulled a good one in the Abnormal Psychology class the other day. Dean Bradford was asking if anyone in the group knew what the capacity of the feeble-minded institute at Beatrice was, Hank popped up with, "when I was there four years ago they didn't have room for any more of us." He couldn't figure out why the rest of the class laughed.

Spanish Text By Dr. Espinosa Will Be Published Soon

"Juvenilia Norte-Americana," a second semester Spanish book written by Dr. C. S. Espinosa, foreign language instructor, has been accepted for publication.

The book is illustrated with scenes from Nebraska by Maxine Sunderman, '28; and Ethel Jane Scanlon, '35, compiled the Spanish-English vocabulary.

A collection of short stories of modern American youth is compiled in this text, with difficulties in the language being deleted, according to Dr. Espinosa.

"It is my deep conviction that in the apprenticeship of a foreign language the difficulties relative to ideas, feelings, and things expressed by the language should be reduced to its possible minimum," stated Dr. Espinosa, "in order that the mental faculties might be able to concentrate their activity and efforts upon the language that expresses them and which the student endeavors to learn."

Uni. Women's Club Plans Annual Tea

The University Women's Club hopes to be able to provide lunch for the men members of the student body as well as the women at the annual lunch next year.

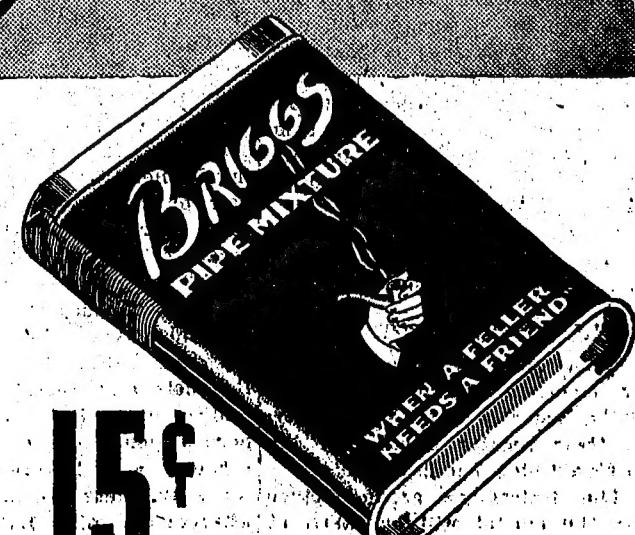

They wish to thank the following for assisting the members in providing lunch for the three hundred women students last week: C-H Cane Sugar Co., Kraft-Phe-nix Corporation, Delmonte Coffee, and Charles Ederer, the florist.

"Nothing could be sadder than a man without a country," said the professor.

"How about a country without a man?" said a feminine voice in the rear.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE STARTS

No Permanent Berths Awarded To Players Until Fall Contests

Spring football began last Monday with 26 candidates for next year's varsity getting into shape. The early part of the week was spent in brushing up on the fundamentals of the game and running signals.

The lineups were constantly shifted, and, according to Sed Hartman, no one is sure of his position next fall.

The coach's chief worry during the spring session is to find capable men to fill the vacancies left by the graduation this June of Leo Pearcey, Noel King, and Howard Sorensen, regulars last year.

Melvin Boldenow, regular end on the varsity eleven last fall, is being shifted to the backfield because of his ability to crash the line. Hartman was impressed with the way the Bloomfield lad hit the line on end plays last fall, and he will probably see considerable action at a halfback post this fall.

Willie Kulper is also making a strong bid to fill the post vacated by the graduation of Leo Pearcey. He is a former Lincoln High school star. His 180 pounds caused the varsity much concern last fall in scrimmages while he was with the freshmen.

Cliff Anderson has been getting considerable attention from Hartman the past week. He is a ten-second sprinter, and has constantly improved. His runs last year caused many exciting moments.

Those who reported for practice last Monday were Loder, Brown, Tyler, Donlon, Kulper, Anderson, Middlekauf, Johnk, Riggins, Crawford, Kaaua, Leber, Wentworth, Threadgill, LaMantia, Reiman, Harper, Kersenbrock, Slump, Nygaard, Flesher, Hesler, Fouts, Grau, Larson and Boldenow.

The first scrimmage of the spring session is scheduled for this afternoon.

Professor: "Well, that remains to be seen."

Rhodes Scholars Applications Due

October, 1937. 3. Must have completed his sophomore year of college by the time of his application.

Some definite quality of distinction, whether in intellectual, character or personality, is the most important requirement for a Rhodes Scholar. Financial need does not constitute a special claim for consideration.

The basis of selection is according to rules laid down by Cecil John Rhodes, donor of the scholarship fund. Students are judged by their literary and scholastic ability and attainments; qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness and fellowship; exhibition of moral force of character and of instinct to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates; physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports.

Application blanks may be secured from Dr. Holt. Selections will be made in December and scholars selected will enter the University of Oxford in October, 1937.

PROPER AGING

Tobacco in its natural state is harsh and strong. Though "cured" by the grower before sale, it is unsuited for use without further aging. During this aging period (which ranges in the case of Lucky Strike from 1½ to 3 years) important changes occur. These "Nature" changes result in the partial "smoothing out" of the original harsh qualities of the leaf. Our process of manufacture carries these improvements many steps further—as every Lucky Strike Cigarette exemplifies: A Light Smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco.

Dr. Bartow Speaks On Waste Recovery

Products which are and may in time be produced from factory wastes, including foodstuffs and explosives, were discussed last Friday morning by Dr. Edward Bartow, president of the American Chemical Society, at an assembly held in Jacobs' Hall.

Dr. Bartow revealed that he and President Haynes are both alumni of Williams College. The scientist, now head of the chemistry department of the University of Iowa, spoke on "Application of Chemistry to Industry." William Holland, Chemistry Club president, presided.

Dynamite, if a cheap production method can be found, may be produced from starch factory waste, Dr. Bartow said. One of the waste products was first tried as an antiseptic, a preservative, and then as a detonator. Finally dynamite was successfully produced.

The two lines of work for a chemist are to find substance for some specific use, and find a use for some specific substance, said Dr. Bartow. He illustrated this with uses discovered from magnesium, an element lighter than aluminum. Besides being used for flash bulbs, it was used in the stratosphere gondola, and is being used in other lighter than air vehicles.
